Frightened Flies
The Bonus O. K.
Governor Silzer, Dark Horse
The Hop to Asia

Current Events

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

YESTERDAY Wall Street had its lowest day in nine months. Gentlemen down there are trying hard to frighten themselves. French and Belgian francs dropped rather severely, and that disturbed speculators.

Two pessimistic Americans talking to each other remind you of a couple of flies in the subtreasury spending their lives where money is piled up. One buzzes: "I don't like the financial outlook."

"Yes, it's very serious, and we are beginning a Presidential campaign; that's always very bad for business."

They may frighten themselves, but there is nothing else to frighten them.

THE PRESIDENT'S veto is overridden, and the soldiers will get their bonus money.

This means a few more millions every year put into circulation, promoting business and prosperity. Some that hate paying taxes will grieve. And for the extra dollar that they may pay in taxes they will make two extra dollars in the regular course of business.

THAT BONUS question, now out of the way, will be forgotten by election day. One that fought with them, and knows American soldiers well, says: "They are good sports, and don't bear malice. Having got what they are after, they will say: 'Perhaps Coolidge will veto something else that really would be bad for the national pocketbook,' and then forget all about it."

NINETY PER CENT. of the politicians say McAdoo and "Al" Smith will kill each other off and a dark horse will get it. Some believe that Ralston, of Indiana, will be the man, but others say: "No, he's older than General Pershing, who retires for age, that would bar him."

THOSE SEEKING to identify the probable dark horse should devote attention to Governor Silzer, of New Jersey. He has back of him, led by Mayor Hague, of Jersey City, one of the most powerful political organizations in the country.

And, what is more important, he has an excellent official record, having given his State an administration honest, efficient and constructive. Include him in your predictions if you want to cover the political probabilities.

AMERICAN FLIERS, after a 6100-mile "hop," land on the Japanese island of Yetorofu, politely greeted by the crews of two warships, one Japanese, one American.

It's now plain that flying machines can be used between Asia and the United States, as little Tartar ponies were used in Asia and Western Europe in the days of Attila.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE is the man most interested in that "hop" from America to Asia. It is his business to provide flying machines that will prevent any hostile hopping from Asia to the United States.

TAX GAINS BY VETO DEFEAT

Leaders Believe Coolidge Will Hesitate Before Rejecting Revenue Measure

Washington, May 20 (I.N.S.)—Party leaders in Congress today sought to speed action on the tax reduction bill.

The defeat administered the President by both House and Senate when he sought to prevent passage of the bonus bill by a veto were reported to have greatly weakened administration opposition to the revenue measure.

Presidential spokesmen, who openly condemned the tax bill a week ago because it failed to include the Mellon plan, were now said to favor acceptance of the measure in the belief that another clash between the White House and Congress would result in grave damage to the President's political fortunes.

This belief was heightened by reports that Secretary Mellon had practically withdrawn his opposition to the Congressional tax bill, which ultimately will be a compromise between the Longworth Republican House bill and the Simmons Democratic Senate measure.

Mellon was said to have told friends he would not urge a veto of the tax bill.

The bonus payments will be distributed over a period of twenty years, with a bulk of payments due at the end of the twentieth year, about the time most of America's war debts will be retired.

For this reason, Mellon was reported to feel the bonus and tax bills would not clash nor work a severe financial hardship upon the government.

An approximate surplus of $400,000,000 now in the Federal Treasury, it was said, would be ample to meet the $152,000,000 payments due upon the bonus next year, as well as the 25 per cent. reduction in taxes for the current year.

Thereafter the annual bonus payments will be comparatively trivial until the twentieth year, when nearly $3,000,000,000 must be expended.

Congressional leaders today indicated the tax bill would be reported out of conference this week for final action in the Senate and House.

Bonus Is Won Despite Wall Street's Fight

Washington, May 20.—The long, long fight to obtain a measure of justice for the 4,500,000 veterans was triumphed over a most determined and highly organized effort by Wall Street interests to prevent enactment of the measure, which provides a system of paid-up insurance for the men who served in the World War.

Up to the last moment Senators were bombarded with messages, which were part of an organized

BLONDE SENDS BENJAMIN TO ALIMONY CLUB

New York, May 20.—Park Benjamin, brother-in-law of the late Enrico Caruso, was today a member of the Alimony Club in Ludlow street jail, where he may ponder on life's problems while debating whether to pay his former wife alimony or not.

Mrs. Catherice Doremus Benjamin, the clear-eyed beauty who divorced him August 2 last, caused his arrest on civil order when she charged he failed to pay the $75 a week alimony awarded her by Supreme Court Justice Taylor.

Last November word was flashed telling of the wedding in Riverside, Cal., of Benjamin and the lovely Gladys Lamphere. The bride, an operatic aspirant, had toured the far west in concert work, and was hailed as another genius of song.

Besides the fortune this son of the late Park Benjamin, patent attorney and historian, may have made himself, he received $20,000 from his father's estate.

When Mrs. Benjamin sued the

Yanks Game Postponed, Too, So the Battle for First Place Is Delayed

Auto Registrar Says That "Dorman or Someone Had Sneaked Things Into Bills"

The relative positions of the Red Sox and Yankees will stand for today at least. Both clubs remained idle due to the rain storm that is spread all through the East.

Hostilities will be resumed tomorrow. The layoff will give Howard Ehmke another day's rest which perhaps will find the former Detroiter pitching the final game of the Tiger-Red Sox series.

Weather conditions were ideal for the working of Jack Quinn, who fares better when the sun is on a vacation. In all probability the veteran will be sent against the Tigers tomorrow and give them a chance to size up his new spit ball.

A win tomorrow by our Sox and a loss by New York would put the two teams in a tie.

Manager Fohl always liked to beat Ty Cobb's team.

In fact, Flagstead, Veach, Ehmke, Clark and Connolly, all former bearers of the Tiger emblem, are more than anxious to trip up the temperamental leader of the Detroit Club, who has hopes of winning the pennant in Ban Johnson's circuit this season.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF $42 CHECK FORGERY

Mrs. Clark testified Weinfeld gave her the check as part of a business transaction.

WITNESS SAYS ALL 'STOLE'

Sleuth for Organization Declares He Makes $500 to $1000 a Week on $40 Salary

Washington, May 20.—The inner workings of the Ku Klux Klan, and the alleged manner in which high Klan officials divided the country into sections and apportioned out between themselves the money paid in for memberships, was described to the Mayfield Committee of the Senate today by J. Q. Jett of White Path, Ga., a former investigator for the hooded order.

Jett described it as "graft" and said he made from $300 to $1,000 a week while with the klan. His salary was $40 a week.

Referring to a conversation between Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler and E. Y. Clark, Jett said that Clark told her the klan "could afford to give $100,000 for propaganda" toward the election of a senator and that Texas seemed to be the only place where they could at the time elect one.

ALL WERE "STEALING."

There was a meeting of klan officials at the office of H. S. Savage, officer of the klan, in October, 1923, the witness said, at which the Mayfield campaign was discussed.

Parenthetically he remarked that he was on a salary of $40 a week and expenses, but made from $500 to $1,000 a week.

Referring to a conversation between Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler and E. Y. Clark, Jett said that Clark told her the klan "could afford to give $100,000 for propaganda" toward the election of a senator and that Texas seemed to be the only place where they could at the time elect one.

propaganda to defeat the measure.

The President summoned to the White House a group of Senators who were known to be wavering and pleaded with them to support his veto. Among them were Sterling, Cameron, Phipps, Keyes, Hale, McKinley and Harreld. On the final roll call Sterling, Phipps, McKinley and Keyes obeyed his wishes.

But this was not enough to sustain the veto. The roll call gave the [illegible] advocates seven more votes than were needed to make up the two-thirds required under the Constitution.

Thirty Republicans, twenty-seven Democrats and the two Farmer-Labor Senators from Minnesota voted for the passage of the bill. Fifteen Republicans and eleven Democrats voted to sustain the veto. An outstanding feature of the roll call was the action of Republican leaders in voting against the President.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, majority leader, and Senator Curtis of Kansas, whip, both voted to override the veto.

Other administration leaders, including such men as Warren of Wyoming, Willis of Ohio, Cummins of Iowa and Bradlegee of Connecticut, stood by their previous votes despite the veto and vote down the President's objections.

Walsh of Massachusetts was absent, but it was announced that he would have voted for the bill.

It was announced that Senators Couzens, La Follette, McCormick and Wadsworth, Republicans, and Senators Stanley and Reed of Missouri, Democrats, were unavoidably absent, but would have voted for the bill had they been able to attend the roll call.

Mellon No Longer Fears Business Will Suffer

Washington, May 20.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon believes the adjusted compensation law can be administered without prejudice to a flat reduction of 25 per cent in income taxes payable this year.

It was officially stated for him that whatever the fate of the revenue bill when it comes to the President he has no fear the income tax reduction clauses will be abandoned in Congress. Neither does Mr. Mellon apprehend any depression in American business because of the granting of adjusted compensation. The main issue with business, he holds, is not compensation, but a decrease in taxes.

Foreign War Vets Send Appreciation To W. R. Hearst

Washington, May 20.—The following telegram to Mr. Hearst was sent by Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., chairman of the legislative committee, Veterans of Foreign Wars:

"The veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States representing thousands of ex-service men and their dependents, send you salutations and deep appreciation of your untiring efforts and those of your papers throughout the country which have assisted so materially in today's passage of the Veterans' Adjusted Compensation Bill. May you keep up the good work in our behalf."

BAY STATE MEN THANK HEARST FOR BONUS AID

Telegrams were sent today to William R. Hearst by officials of the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion, expressing the deep thanks of the war veterans of this State for the long struggle of the Hearst newspapers for adjusted compensation—a fight which has just seen its fruition in enactment of the bonus bill.

Following are some of the messages sent to Mr. Hearst:

To William R. Hearst, New York, N. Y.

For five years you have fought with us for adjusted compensation. Our victory is your victory. Veterans of Massachusetts thank you.

LEO A. SPILLANE,
State Adjutant American Legion.

Veterans of Massachusetts are deeply grateful for your sincere advocacy of adjusted compensation.

FRANCIS J. GOOD,
Second Vice Commander Massachusetts Dept. American Legion.

We Massachusetts veterans are grateful for the fact that you have taken such an interest in bonus legislation where other similar agencies have been half-hearted or entirely negligent. Thank you.

JOHN D. BUCKLEY,
Mass. Dept. Treasurer American Legion.

The Legion deeply appreciates all that has been done for the heroes by the Hearst papers. No small part of the glory for what has been accomplished is due the papers operated by you throughout the country.

WILLIAM McGINNIS,
Third Vice-Commander American Legion.

The Department of Massachusetts, American Legion, appreciates your consistent and patriotic efforts for securing enactment of, after a long struggle, a bill recognizing the principle of adjusted compensation.

LEO E. HARLOW,
Acting Commander Massachusetts Dept. American Legion.

I feel that the legionaires of Massachusetts are happy to express their congratulations to William Randolph Hearst, who has been a champion of adjusted compensation from the beginning. In his earnest efforts to see fair play and just consideration of service meted out throughout the country.

KENNETH C. MacDONALD, Jr.
First Vice-Commander, Suffolk County Council, American Legion.

CREDIT HEARST WITH VICTORY FOR BONUS

Congressmen Who Led Fight Say His Papers Kept Issue Alive

Washington, May 20 (Universal)—Congressmen here shortly opened upon the Hearst newspapers by friends of the soldiers bonus-insurance bill, who gave these publications full credit for keeping the question alive and the issue clear, in spite of all odds and obstacles, and thus contributing in large measure to its final accomplishment.

Some of the comments follow:

CHAIRMAN GREEN of the House Ways and Means Committee, who was in charge of the bill in the House: "While no many of the big dailies were so bitterly attacking the bonus, the Hearst newspapers maintained a great service in putting the real facts before the country and in showing that the bill normally was a pay-as-you-go one.

"Above all the Hearst newspapers have shown how little there was in the argument that the soldiers' bonus would add 3,000,000 persons each year to the pension roll, for the odds too great. Without their constant support, I am confident the battle could not have been won."

REPRESENTATIVE LORING M. BLACK, Democrat, of New York: "William Randolph Hearst has been the outstanding champion of the bonus legislation and the care of the wounded and disabled veterans since the armistice."

REPRESENTATIVE FIORELLA H. LAGUARDIA, ex-service man and progressive Republican of New York—The Hearst newspapers again battled 3,000,000 long, consistent and untiring fight for the bonus legislation did more than any other force working in behalf of the ex-service men. As an ex-service man and as a legislator, my thanks to the Hearst papers for their loyal and co-operation."

REPRESENTATIVE JOHN M. NELSON of Wisconsin, chairman of the progressive Republican bloc—The Hearst newspapers supplied the driving force outside of Congress that kept on the sentiment of the people in favor of doing justice to the men who saved the nation and the wealth and property of the very interests that sought by many means fair or foul to deny this justice. The soldiers and their friends should hasten to extend to Mr. Hearst and his great organization their sincere appreciation."

REPRESENTATIVE NATHAN D. PERLMAN, Republican, of New York—The Hearst papers stood almost alone among the great dailies of the country in their support of the soldiers in their just demand for adjusted compensation."

REPRESENTATIVE JAMES A. FREAR, Progressive Republican of Wisconsin—The Hearst newspapers have been supplying to citizens their congratulations to William Randolph Hearst, who has been a champion of adjusted compensation from the beginning. In his earnest efforts to see fair play and just consideration of service meted out throughout the country.

KENNETH C. MacDONALD, Jr.
First Vice-Commander, Suffolk County Council, American Legion.

HOPE TO MEET BONUS BY ALIEN DEBT FUNDS

Washington, May 20 (I.N.S.).—Renewed efforts by the United States government to collect some of the $11,000,000,000 owed by European nations will be made in the very near future as a result of the passage of the soldiers' bonus-insurance legislation.

There is one way by which the cost of the bonus may be met and that is through the collection of the debts due this country from Europe, it was declared, and that is by getting Europe's war debt on a basis that will produce something.

Treasury officials figured that Europe's unfunded debt to the United States will double itself in twenty years and in 1944 at the present rate and under present conditions will approximate $21,000,000,000.

By 1944 the government will be called upon to take up the burden of the veterans' insurance policies in the amount of some $3,000,000,000. At the same time there will mature some billions in Liberty bonds. Against this day of financial reckoning there must be piled up a huge surplus, and the eyes of officialdom were turned hopefully toward Europe.

New figures obtained by the Treasury today showed that Europe's total indebtedness to the United States on May 15 was $11,588,753,022, of which $10,584,016,151 is principal. Unpaid interest is piling up at the rate of $267,000,000 a year.

ORIENT HEIGHTS POST GIVES THANKS

Stephen S. Sullivan, Commander of Orient Heights Post, No. 84, American Legion, in a letter to the Boston American stated:

"Please accept the thanks and appreciation of officers and members of Orient Heights Post, No. 84, Inc., for the whole-hearted support given to the cause of adjusted compensation by the Boston American. Our thanks are also extended to Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge and the other members of Congress who refused to bow before the dictatorial veto of the President."

Gov. Brown Gives Bonus Credit to Hearst Press

Governor Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire at his home in Somersworth, N. H., praised the work of the Hearst newspapers in [illegible] the passage of the bonus bill. Governor Brown said:

"Service men throughout the country can thank the Hearst newspapers for the passage of the bonus bill. For five years these papers have worked for the bill with a spirit that knew no defeat."

26 QUESTIONS ARE LISTED ON BONUS BLANK

War Department Also Issued Rules for Applicants, Advising Against Paying Fees

Washington, May 20.—The application blank, which veterans or dependents of veterans will obtain, and on which they will list their claims for a bonus will contain 26 questions.

The following information will be asked:

1. Name of veteran and service or serial number.

2. Present address of veteran or dependent.

3. Date and place of birth of veteran.

4. Rank or grade, date and place of original entry into World War service in the Army, Navy, Coast Guard or Marine Corps.

5. Date and place of separation from service.

6. Whether or not service was honorable.

7. Statement of service in organization, at stations or on vessels, in order of service, with dates.

8. Whether given on discharge certificate.

9. To be filled in only by men part or all whose service was with Marine Corps, listing dates of vessel, date and place of embarkation for overseas, and same date as to disembarking on return to the United States.

10. (Not to be filled out if dependent makes application). Formal application for the benefits of the act, and designation of the beneficiary by name, relationship, and address, the veteran to sign his name.

11. Space for thin imprint of four fingers of the right hand of veteran taken at the same time.

12. To be answered only after perusal of instructions which will accompany blanks.

13. Grades and dates of commissioned service.

14. Statement by applicant as to dates and stations if a commissioned or warrant officer performing home service not with troops and receiving commutation of quarters or of subsistence.

AFFIDAVITS REQUIRED.

15. Dates if granted a farm or [illegible] furlough.

16. Statement whether applicant was a conscientious objector who performed no military or naval duties whatever, or refused to wear the uniform of the branch of service in which applicant was serving.

17. Statement whether applicant was discharged as alien.

18. Space for remarks.

19. Certification, date and signature of affiant who may be filled in according to instructions which will come with blanks.

20. (Not to be filled out if dependent makes application). Certification by two witnesses that they know the applicant.

21, 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26 to be filled in only when dependents make the application, naming the dependent relatives surviving the veteran, relationship of the surviving veteran to the applying dependent, address, signature, fingerprints and a sworn affidavit. These questions will be followed by the instruction, "Dependants must be sure to submit with their application the affidavits as shown in the instructions, which are required by law and regulations."

METHOD OF DISTRIBUTION.

As soon as the application blanks come from the printer they will be distributed through the offices of the post service, American Legion Posts, Red Cross and other organizations.

In order to facilitate operation of the law, the War Department asks co-operation in these respects:

Do not write for application blanks, these will be distributed.

Do not pay fees other than any notary charge. The law prohibits any person charging a fee for assistance in the collection of the compensation and provides a fine and jail sentence. Cases have been doubled as far as possible.

Do not write the War Department for any information required by the blank. If the individual has not the information, he should simply it as best he can from memory.

Gen. Hines of the Veterans' Bureau stressed the point that applications should not be made to the Veterans' Bureau, but to the War Department if the applicant served in the Army, and to the Navy Department if he served in the Navy.

He also called attention to the fact that the adjusted service compensation has nothing to do with the Government life insurance or compensation for disability or for vocational training.

MRS. VINCENT ASTOR.

New York, May 20.—Mrs. Helen Astor, wife of Vincent Astor, heir to the vast Astor estate, weakened by an attack of illness during the past two days of her voyage, came down the gang-plank of the Leviathan when the steamer arrived, leaning heavily on the arm of her husband. Mrs. Astor has been abroad for three months visiting friends. Her husband met the Leviathan at the pier and was on the ship when informed of his wife's illness.

Washington, May 20 (By Universal Service).—Here is how any veteran who receives a paid-up insurance policy under the soldier bonus-insurance bill, which became a law Monday, may figure on his thumbnail the maturity value of his policy at the end of twenty years or the face value at death:

First—Total the number of days served at home and overseas and deduct sixty of those served at home, which are excluded as having been covered in the $60 bonus paid upon discharge after the armistice; multiply the days served at home by $1 and the number overseas by $1.25 and add the results. Eliminate all above, if any, as that is the limit of base pay allowed. If the veteran had only home service the limit is $600.

FACE VALUE AT DEATH.

Then find in the accompanying table the factor opposite the age of the veterans at his nearest birthday next Spring and multiply the base pay total by the factor. The result will be the maturity value of the policy or face value at death.

For example, if a veteran served 365 days at home his basic pay is $900, eliminating the first sixty days and multiplying the balance by $1. Say his age is thirty. His factor is 2.324, which if used to multiply $900 gives a total of $1,260, the value of the policy.

If a veteran had 500 days at home and 500 abroad, his basic pay is $925, which, if multiplied by 2.324, gives the policy value at $1,077.

PROVISION FOR LOANS.

Application for the bonus may be made at any time before January 1, 1925, but the cash payments will not be distributed until after next March 1.

Loans may be made on the policies up to 90 per cent. of their current face values any time after two years from the date of issuance.

Thus on a $1,000 policy, at the end of two years, a loan of $87.93 could be made. On this same policy at the end of nineteen years a loan of $831.23 would be possible. The loans may be made at any national or State bank.

TABLE OF FACTORS.

largely used, he asserted, in educating the Klan to write Mayfield's name upon the ballot. The money was given to Pusney by Evans, he said.

Jett was temporarily excused and J. B. McQuinn, auditor and assistant cashier of the Imperial Palace of the Klan was called to the stand. In reply to an inquiry by Luther Nichols, counsel for Peddy, he answered the committee there had been no adjustment after the auditing of the Klan books to balance the accounts.

At the request of the Peddy counsel, Klan officers who were to testify later, retired from the room during Jett's testimony.

The witness said he was in the employ of the Klan from its organization until last April. Asked what he knew of the connections of H. W. Evans, T. H. McKinnon and John D. Maher, he said Maher's activities were largely to find out about the purposes of Gaston B. Means, who was investigating the Klan.

American Debutantes All to Wear Paris Creations, Ignoring London Modistes

By HAYDEN TALBOT

London, May 20.—American debutantes are awaiting tonight's first presentation at court with the knowledge that they will provide something of a sensation by reason of the fact that almost all of them will be garbed in Paris creations.

With Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, wife of the ambassador, acting as introducer, there will be presented to the British royalties a half score of American women outfitted from top to toe by Paris costumiers. This fact was unearthed when inquiries made at the London modistes' shops resulted in the discovery that not one of the American women patronized them for her presentation gown.

These participating are: Miss Natalie Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond of Gloucester, Mass., and Washington; Mrs. Joseph Leiter and Miss Dorothy Sewell, both of Washington; Miss Elizabeth Otis of St. Paul, Miss Mary Abernathy of Kansas City, Miss Alice Archibald of Paris, Mrs. Howard Donovan of Illinois, Mrs. William Dana Orcutt of Boston, Miss Constance Deighton Simpson of Los Angeles and Miss Elizabeth Wallace of Plainfield, N. VERMONT DEMOCRATS IN STATE CONVENTION

Montpelier, May 20.—Choice of an uninstructed delegate to the Democratic national convention was anticipated by party leaders at the Democratic State convention here today. Homer Cummings of Stamford, Ct., former chairman of the Democratic national committee, was on the program for the principal address.

James A. Hamilton, Secretary of the State of New York, named Governor Smith as the leader to win victory.

SMITH RAN JUSTICE BUREAU

Former Head Says Daugherty's Pal Had Authority to Issue Orders

Washington, May 20.—Upon the authority of former Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty, orders given by Jess W. Smith, his friend and companion, were taken and obeyed by the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, Lewis J. Bailey, its former acting chief, testified today before the Senate Daugherty committee.

Bailey now sent in charge of the bureau in Alaska, was acting chief from October 1923 to August, 1921. He said he was told by Daugherty to take up all questions with Smith.

"Daugherty said he was a very busy man," Bailey testified, "but that Smith represented him. Anything that came up, he told me, I should see Smith about, and whatever Smith told me to do would be all right."

"Did you do so?" asked Senator Wheeler.

"Yes," Bailey replied, "except in one or two instances, where I had some question as to Smith's judgment and went to the Attorney-General."

FIRED AN ASSISTANT.

The bureau was being reorganized during the period, Bailey added, and most of the consultation between himself and Smith dealt with the question of employes to be retained, dismissed or hired. Smith, he said, had an office in the department and took an interest in anything.

The witness related how Smith had told an assistant chief of the bureau he had to get out.

Answering a question by Chairman Brookhart, he said there was no room in his judgment for the defense.

"Everybody around the Department of Justice recognized Smith as the man they had to pay attention to," Bailey said. "He was the most powerful man there next to the Attorney-General."

INVESTIGATED BURNS.

"Did Smith ever request you to do anything wrong?" George Chamberlain, counsel for Daugherty, demanded.

"There were two or three little questions we couldn't agree on," Bailey said. "There wasn't any corruption in his request."

The bureau of investigation files were frequently furnished to Smith, Bailey declared, though all the files he remembered Smith having were in reference to employes.

"Everybody up there understood they had to do what he told them," Bailey added. "If they were idle, so they figured they had better take his orders or look for a new job."

There was a 'case file' in the bureau relating to W. J. Burns, indicating that the department had investigated the detective chief himself at some period during the war. What it contained, Bailey said, he did not know.

JUST HELPING.

Smith was making every effort to reduce the force to a minimum," the witness went on, and in so doing gave preference to Republicans.

He said Smith "declared in my hearing that he was in no way officially connected with the Department of Justice and that he was just there as a matter of personal friendship to the Attorney-General, helping to get things started."

Cheating Children in Pennies on Candy Gamble

Cleveland, May 20.—The storekeeper who swindles children out of their pennies in a game of chance where the child has no chance to win was characterized as the meanest man in the world by George U. Harvey, New York, addressing the retail confectioners' convention.

Mr. Harvey declared the Associated Confectioners have abated this fraud, the most popular form of which is a large box of chocolates, each piece of which sells for a penny. If it has a pink centre, the purchaser gets an extra free; if it has a chocolate centre, he gets a pound, but his chances of doing so are wrecked by the manufacturer inserting a slip telling the dealer which pieces are chocolate and advising him to remove them, Mr. Harvey said.

CATCH BROKER AFTER WILD AUTO RIDE

A wild automobile chase in which several shots were fired reached a climax in front of the Longwood Cricket Club grounds when Charles F. Brown, a Boston broker living at No. 416 Linden street, Wellesley Hills, was captured by Lieut. Officer Harry McNeill of the Brookline police department.

Brown is charged with driving an automobile in a manner to endanger the lives and safety of the public.

Officer McNeill was making a tour of the Chestnut Hill section when he noticed a coupe turning into Grove street from Allendale road. The car was weaving from one side of the road to the other and the officer, who was in the car of a friend, promptly gave chase.

Out through Newton street the chase led and when near Hammond street the officer's car forged ahead. Standing on the running board the officer flashed his badge on the broker, and ordered him to stop.

In response, the broker, according to the policeman, turned his car directly in front of the officer's machine.

"I'm a policeman. I'll use this if you don't stop," the officer shouted.

An instant later he started firing. Almost the first shot struck one of the tires on the broker's car, but with speed unabated the fleeing machine managed to forge ahead again in the race.

At Boylston street a Newton officer heard the shots and entered the race in another machine. The broker's car was finally overtaken and forced to stop in front of the Longwood Cricket Club and Brown was placed under arrest.

name of the co-respondent never became known, but 'twas said she was a vivacious blonde, the kind interested in men of vivid personalities. And a vivid personality Park Benjamin is, according to some who know him.

A cabaret dancer— she may have been that vivacious blonde—figured in that suit. Tales were told of a sprightly party at which Park received a black eye while going to her rescue. Nine witnesses told of that affair.

That little affair at the hotel might never have become known to Benjamin's family if a conscientious physician had not done his duty as he saw it. Park wanted that black eye treated—it was the kind that needed a beefsteak draped over it, or something.

The physician notified Mrs. Benjamin, and a day later very urgent business called her husband to Buenos Aires, South America. As far as known, the vivacious blonde remained in the hotel.

JAP ENVOY WILL QUIT OWING TO IMMIGRATION

Ambassador Hanihara Doesn't Want to Stay When Exclusion Starts

Washington, May 20 (A.P.).—Ambassador Hanihara may be permitted to remain in Washington next month, Premier Matsui told newspapermen today.

The foreign minister stated that there had been no formal interchanges between the foreign office and the ambassador dealing with the matter, although Tokio officials have known Mr. Hanihara was determined not to remain in the United States after the Japanese exclusion clause in the recently enacted immigration bill becomes effective.

Foreign Minister Matsui emphasized that the ambassador's retirement should it actually become a fact would be purely voluntary.

The ambassador is the author of the "serious consequences" letter sent to Secretary Hughes on the Jap immigration problem.

Miss Joan Whitney to Become a Bride in Long Island, July 5, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

BOSTON has its interest in the wedding of Miss Joan Whitney and Charles Shipman Payson, the all-important affair set for July 5.

Christ Church at Manhasset, L. I., is to be the scene of the ceremonial, which will be attended by relatives and intimate friends. A large reception will follow at "Greentree," the Manhasset Summer estate of the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney.

There will be two matrons of honor in the pre-ceremonial—odd!—cousins—one of them, Miss Stuart Symington, St., formerly Miss Evelyn Wadsworth, and at whose recent wedding at the capital Miss Whitney was of the attending group, as was also Miss Alice Thomas of Boston. The other honor attendant will be Miss Barbara Whitney, whose calling cards by that time will read Mrs. Barklie McKee Henry, her marriage being set for June 25.

(© Newsreel Photo)

In addition to the six bridesmaids, all of them Gotham belles, little Adele Hay will be the flower girl. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Hay (Alice Appleton), who spend a great deal of their time on the North Shore, where they are leaders in the jolly Myopia hunt set.

The prospective bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Payson of Portland, Me., finishes his course at the Harvard Law School next month. He received his sheepskin from Yale in 1921, having rowed on the winning varsity crews in '19 and '21.

Of the Boston men in the usher corps will be Lawrence Fortier and Sidney B. Homer. For the latter, I believe, wedding bells are to chime before many moons have passed. He fiances is Miss Harriet Bowne, daughter of the Frederick P. Boyces of Dedham, who has been enjoying a sojourn at Hot Springs.

MISS JOAN WHITNEY

Boston will be represented in the wedding party of Miss Joan Whitney and Charles Shipman Payson, whose marriage at Manhasset is set for July 5. (Photo by International Newsreel).

WEDDING fans, however, will have quite enough to occupy their attention nearer at home during the month.

The marriage of Rachel Trafford of Milton and Herbert S. Carter, Jr., of New York will be solemnized out Milton way on the 7th. A few days later comes the ceremonial which will transform Miss Nina Underwood into the bride of D. Hunter Mcalpin, 2d, of New York, the affair taking place in Belmont on the 11th.

Miss Edith Blanchard has selected the 21st for her wedding to Henry L. Hall at the New North church in Hingham. A ceremony of late June will be solemnized when Miss Elizabeth Russell of Milton becomes the bride of Charles K. Cummings, Jr.

BRITISH COMMUNISTS FLAY GOVERNMENT

Manchester, Eng., May 20 (A.P.).—The annual Congress of the British Communist party was occupied for the greater part with vituperations of the Labor government, whose "faithlessness and treachery to the working class" were denounced in a resolution which also declared the determination to be "the willing tool and accomplice of the capitalist exporters."

Another resolution adopted demands affiliation of the Communists with the Labor party, one speaker saying it was the business of the Communists to get into the party and steal the leadership from the present leaders.

ACCUSE QUAKER OATS CO. OF UNFAIR TRADE

Washington, May 20.—The Quaker Oats Company of Chicago is charged by the Federal Trade Commission with using unfair trade methods in the sale of animal food products. Similar complaints also were issued by the commission against the Larrowe Milling Company, of Cleveland, and the Halston Company, of St. Louis. The complaints charge discrimination in prices as between "preferred" and "ordinary" jobbing and allege that an arbitrary sum of money, in excess of the list prices, was collected from "ordinary" dealers, and in some cases paid over to the "preferred" purchasers.

U. S. AVIATORS CONTINUE ON TO MINATO

Surprise Japanese by Unexpected Arrival, Which Adds to Natives' Excitement

Minato, Japan, May 20. (A.P.)—The American round-the-world aviators overcame highly adverse conditions today by flying from Yetorofu Island, in the Kuriles, to this little town in Northern Japan.

Foggy weather, which at first seemed likely to prevent them from accomplishing the flight, later cleared somewhat.

The flight to this place, completing a passage of the Pacific by crossing the last gap in man's aerial navigation around the world, Americans, British and Portuguese having flown over the Atlantic, British aviators having flown from England to Singapore and Italians having flown across Southern Asia and up the China Coast to Japan, while British and Japanese fliers have traversed the entire stretches of their own countries.

The arrival of the Americans came as a surprise to many, early reports that the weather was not suitable for flying having received general circulation among the inhabitants, all of whom have been in a state of high excitement over the notable event.

Dispatches from Kashumigaura, the next landing place, state that the town is filling up with great crowds coming from all parts of Central and Northern Japan to welcome the Americans.

At Kasumigaura, where the Japanese navy has its principal aviation station, the finest army and navy mechanics will be on hand to assist the visitors.

The airplane is of the Langley type and carries 400 pounds of special equipment from which the electrically treated sand is sprayed.

MRS. HOFFMAN HELPS HUSBAND PICK JURORS

"I Believe in Him," She Says, as He Faces Bauer Murder Trial

New York, May 20 (I.N.S.)—While Harry Hoffman helped his attorney pick the jury that will try him for the murder of Mrs. Maude Bauer on a lonely Staten Island road seven weeks ago, his wife sat beside him and challenged the world with her faith in her husband's innocence.

"Why shouldn't I be here?" Mrs. Hoffman said. "I believe in him."

It is reported that Hoffman's defense will be the claim that he is a victim of a delusion that makes him suspect everybody of being against him.

Five jurors have already been chosen. The jury is expected to be completed today.

ASSEMBLY IS OPENED BY HIS GRACE "JAMIE"

Edinburgh, May 20.—Labor's Lord High Commissioner to the Church of Scotland, his Grace "Jamie" Brown, as representative of King George, today opened the general assemblies of the Scottish Presbyterian churches.

EYES OF YOUTH PRESENTED AT ST. JAMES

Boston Stock Company Gives Excellent Performance of Melodrama

"Eyes of Youth," an excellent melodrama by Max Marcin and Charles Guernon, pleasantly remembered here, made a decided impression before a large audience at the St. James Theatre last night as presented by the clever Boston Stock company. Miss Mason played the leading role as the heroine of many experiences.

The heroine is a young school teacher who is forced by her father's circumstances to accept one of four suitors. Opportunity is given her by a Yogi to peer into her future and, with the aid of his crystal, episodes are shown upon the stage. She is first seen as a pathetic failure, dismissed by the School Board and abandoned by the young cad who had pleaded that it was her duty to wait until he could marry her.

Then in several strongly contrasted episodes the Yogi allows her to see other episodes in her future life.

The result is a highly entertaining melodrama of varied characterizations. The play is the first melodramatic role Miss Mason has played since joining the St. James players this season.

JIGGS IN PLAY AS FUNNY AS IN CARTOON

"Bringing Up Father on Broadway" Scores Big Hit at Arlington Theatre

Rarely does Maggie hurl her rolling pin at Jiggs with surer aim than she did last night at the Arlington Theatre. And as rarely does Jiggs' slangy repartee sparkle as it did last night in "Bringing Up Father on Broadway."

The pair were as mirth-provoking on the stage as they are in the comic page, and a large, appreciative audience shrieked with laughter and applauded throughout the two and a half hours of the musical comedy.

"Bringing Up Father on Broadway," is George McManus' latest cartoon musical comedy. It is in two acts, and five scenes, and starts on Broadway amidst the white lights and ends in Hawaii, under the soft moonlight.

A capable cast supported the quarreling couple. There were several most humorous situations, in one of which Maggie, under the influence of liquor contained in candy, makes love to Dinty Moore, who was not slated over her passion.

Maggie was a big, strapping woman with the arms of a stevedore. Emma Weston, who played the role, did ample justice to it. She made one of the shrewdest Maggies that ever domineered a Jiggs. But Jasper K. Wesley, who took the part of Jiggs, proved himself an equal to her, and incarated her poor, sensitive soul most heartlessly with his reflections on her shape and features.

The chorus was small, but enjoyable. The costumes and dances added to the show. Several musical selections were especially good, and the audience responded to them whole-heartedly.

Rastus, a wandering musician, more wandering than musician, was one of the high lights of the musical comedy. The part was played by Frank Kirk, and he made a most versatile minstrel.

The new feature of the open air program will be Paulus, a nerveless entertainer, who performs on the top of a slender steel pole a hundred feet above the ground. He will give two performances daily—afternoon and evening. All the other novel features that made Norumbega so popular last season have been retained, including sensational rides, pastimes for small folk, free band concerts and the opportunity for lodges and other organizations to conduct picnic operations on the splendidly equipped picnic grounds.

RECOMMENDED BY HER DOCTOR

Found Strength by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kankakee, Illinois.—"My mother-in-law always took your medicine for weakness, and then in the Change of Life it did her so much good that she induced me to take it for a weakness I had for a year and a half. It has strengthened me and now have a nice baby boy. I do all my own housework now, and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I have the opportunity. I am taking it again for weakness, as my family doctor has recommended it for this purpose."—Mrs. HARRY COULOM, 364 North Harrison Ave., Kankakee, Illinois.

Real Evidence of Merit

For the relief of female weaknesses, pains and backache, nervousness and irregularities, with other troubles common to women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine.

'MEN' STRONG FILM OF LIFE IN PARIS

Pola Negri Shown to Great Advantage in Sensational Movie at Fenway

If variety is truly the spice of life this week's bill at the increasingly popular Fenway Theatre, is life itself.

Certainly a bill which begins with Wagner's "Rienzi," as interpreted by the Fenway Concert Orchestra, under the leadership of the gifted Bronislaw Miriskey, proceeds to a review of the News of the Week in picture form, stops for a few moments to consider—more pictures—the domestic life of the house-fly, blows a gale of laughter with the fast and frolicsome screen comedy, "Getting Gertie's Goat," and closes with Pola Negri in "Men," is quite as diversified as even the jazzed taste of a jas age could wish for.

In a word or two, the current offering at the Fenway is "a bang-up good show."

When you see pictures of the wondrously dark and beautiful Pola Negri at the front of the theatre, and observe that the title of the feature film is "Men," you have an idea that you know just what to expect—and you are not disappointed. The men are a bad lot.

Dimitri Buchowetzki wrote the piece and directed the acting. The play opens in Marseilles where Cleo (Pola Negri), is a waitress in a by no means gilded cafe on the waterfront. She is seen by a young man from Paris who, it appears, is in the business of looking for innocent young ladies whom he can recommend to the horrid old Baron Gallonte. He recommends Cleo, and lovely Cleo goes to gay Parree. Men are a bad lot.

"Getting Gertie's Goat" is the somewhat inelegant, if not vulgar, title of as clean and rollicking a farce as Boston has seen "up in the pictures," in many months. The story concerns two youthful California lovers bent upon elopement. The action moves at the speed of a mile a minute, with a dozen laughs for every furlong.

Cyrus Ullam, pianist; Angelo Boschetti, baritone, and, of course, Lloyd G. Del Castillo, at the organ, give this unusually good program the touch of musical distinction always characteristic of the Fenway.

NAN HALPERIN HEADS BILL AT KEITHS

Copley-Plaze Orchestra and Other Good Acts Feature Week's Program

If you like your entertainment in full salad form—a little of everything—you'll like Keith's this week.

It ranges from Nan Halperin to the Copley-Plaza Orchestra, with the comic and acrobatic Mandels, Bob Hall and others mixed in along the line.

The Copley-Plaza Orchestra plays jazzy and semi-jazzy tunes in dignified Copley-Plaza fashion. The Mandel Brothers—William and Joe—repeat their laughing gymnastics that have brought them acclaim in musical revue.

But to Nan Halperin and the dancing Marconi family, the night's honors went. Some of the Marconi tribute was awarded undoubtedly to the father-pinch-hitting after five years for one of the boys who is ill.

Others on the bill are Arthur Nelson and his clever cats; Stephens and Hollister, William Smythe and Gladys Reade and the Gaines Trio.

DRUGGED! INDICAN Shows Why People Feel That Way

ASK your doctor about INDICAN. He will tell you it is a substance looked for in examining his patients thoroughly, if he finds it in you—it means that the poisons of constipation are seeping through your blood into every muscle and every joint. This is what does the damage. It robs you of your pep—it poisons your whitewash, liver and intestines quickly, but also dulls the INDICAN away.

Make this test. Have an analysis made of your spoon, and if the doctor reports the presence of INDICAN, or if you can feel how poisoned you are—immediately start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills as presented by him, or according to directions. Now have another test made and see the INDICAN disappear. See how your complexion brightens and clears, your tongue is cleared and clean, you can eat like a kid again, in reason.

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills used for 62 years by millions of people all over the world. They are a vegetable preparation and contain no drugs of any kind whatever. In purchasing insist on getting Carter's. Don't accept substitutes forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.

He didn't know he was constipated—he felt "run down." See how the test proves he had INDICAN—the poison of constipation.

Same man after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for only a few days—note the clean, normal specimen—FREE FROM ANY TRACE OF INDICAN.

Something More!

After meals you want something more—a bit of sweet with a change of flavor. WRIGLEY'S is that "something more" and it's more than that! It is a great aid to your good health, as medical authorities say.

This is from a recent book on health:

LOVE LETTERS TO WIFE LIES, SAYS LANG

Written Like Form Supplied by Counsel for Woman Wife Sues, He Asserts

Love letters from a husband to a wife may be according to stereotyped form.

In the trial of the alienation suit brought by Mrs. Catherine Lang against Mrs. Edna E. Galbraith for the loss of her husband's affections, Gerhardt M. Lang, husband of the plaintiff, testified that his love letters had been lies.

A number of letters, introduced as evidence by the plaintiff's attorney, contained such phrases as: "I want to cherish and protect you as I used to."

"I know I did you a great wrong and I want a chance to prove myself. It is for the sake of both of us and for our children that I don't want to be ever recalled to them as having been arrested. Go to the district attorney's and have it taken care of."

WRITTEN IN RENO.

These letters were written to Mrs. Lang by Lang while he was in Reno attempting to secure a divorce from his wife. He was expecting the police from Massachusetts to come for him daily to answer to the charge of infidelity brought against him by Mrs. Lang.

"Were the statements in those letters true?"

"No," Lang answered, "but I had to do something to protect myself."

He testified that the letters were written according to three forms suggested to him by Jesse D. Crook, attorney for Mrs. Galbraith.

Lang also testified that he was told that if he would give evidence preventing Mrs. Lang from winning her suit, he would be amply provided for. This promise was made in a conversation at the office of Mr. Crook, he said.

Two special officers were called to the stand by the defense and they testified to a conversation in the Roxbury Court at which Lang was asked if he expected to get some of the money from Mrs. Lang if she won her suit. He answered, "I'll be a fool if I didn't get some."

GOSCHEN, OF "SCRAP OF PAPER" FAME, DEAD

London, May 20.—Sir Edward Goschen, the man to whom Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg is reputed to have characterized the Belgian neutrality treaty as "a scrap of paper," died at his home here today. Sir Edward entered the British diplomatic service in 1868, and at the outbreak of the war was British ambassador at Berlin. In 1893 Sir Edward was secretary of the British embassy in Washington. He was 77 years old.

REVERE PUPILS STAGE ANNUAL FROLIC

Fantastically Dressed Horde Invades American Office to See How Paper Is Made

Revere High School pupils had their annual class day frolic today.

Armed with horns and whistles, they visited the American office. They trooped all over the building, they saw how the paper was made, poked over the photographic department, stopped long enough to let a photographer "shoot" a few of them and then trooped out into the street, tanking with them a riot of noises and musical cheers.

Among the pupils were the Misses Josephine Memmina, Nellie Jacobson, Jeanetta Oremsland, Etta Fishman, Sadie Levine, Catherine Corkey and Julia Wilinski.

THAW OFF FOR N. Y. TO FACE GUMP SUIT

His Lawyer to Meet Him at Station and Go at Once Before Judge to Give Bail

New York, May 20 (I.N.S.).—Harry K. Thaw, recently granted his liberty from Kirkbridge Asylum, Philadelphia, will leave for New York this afternoon to plead to the charge of assault on Frederick Gump, Jr., for mercy of Kansas City, Mo., it was announced today by George Z. Medalie, one of Thaw's New York attorneys.

Thaw has been living at his mother's home near Pittsburgh since his release from the asylum about two weeks ago.

He was to leave Pittsburgh at 1 o'clock and was to be met at the Pennsylvania Station by Medalie. They were to go at once to Criminal Courts Building, where Thaw was to be arraigned on the Gump charge before Judge George W. Olney.

Bail will be fixed, it was said, and, according to Medalie, the bail will be ready.

Thaw's full freedom was made a possibility when his former wife, Evelyn Nesbit, announced through her attorney she would not try to keep Thaw from his liberty.

Ford Now Selling His Flivvers at Cost Price

Henry Ford is today selling autos practically at cost, according to Detroit advices. He depends for profits on parts sales, sale of by-products and interest on bank balances and securities, with a business that has grown to a billion dollars a year in 20 years.

Two years ago the bulk of the Ford profits came from car sales. It is reported Ford's next step will be inauguration of an eight-hour five-day week. The auto magnate has long believed a workman can turn out as much in five days with two days rest and recreation as a six days a week.

In the fiscal year which closed February 29 profits from Ford car sales were but $3,920,483 of the $82,263,483 total. The remainder of the profits came from sales of parts, interest, etc.

third of the traffic officers always in court. Some street signs, he added, were illegal, although he did not explain in what regard.

Registrar Goodwin then took the floor with a statement that he was puzzled through his inference that General Sherburne and two other members of the Governor's committee professed not to have seen the bills after they were drawn.

"It might be well to find out who told Dorman to put the various provisions into these bills," he suggested.

On the bill raising the fine for driving after revocation, the registrar declared that the bill should not be admitted without a specific provision that cases should not be filed or the accused placed on probation.

SUSPENDING LICENSES.

The second bill—giving courts power to suspend licenses—he said he was in favor of if the courts were allowed to specify time, in order not to conflict with the registrar's office.

The third bill—defining more clearly the Registrar's functions—would automatically remove the power of discretion by the courts, he said.

Attorney Dorman, who had been sent for by Chairman Austin, arrived at the hearing room and said he had been requested to draw "certain bills" by Gen. Sherburne. Suggestions as to what they should contain were made to him by Gen. Sherburne. Suggestions as to what they should contain were made to him by Gen. Sherburne Dorman declared.

GREAT GRANDMOTHER AT 54 BOBS HAIR

MRS. MARY NOEL AND HER FAMILY

Mrs. Noel of Brockton, who is a great-grandmother at fifty-four, has just had her hair bobbed. In the picture she is standing on left. Next to her is her son Edward, a grandfather. Next to him is his daughter Helen, who is mother of the boy in the picture. Seated is Mrs. Rand, aged eighty-two, mother of Mrs. Noel, and a great-great-grandmother.

BOBS HAIR AT 54, AND IS GREAT-GRANDMOTHER

Brockton, May 20.—Mrs. Mary Noel of 30 Franklin street, may not be the only great grandmother in New England, but friends claim for her the record of being the only bobbed-haired great grandmother in New England, if not in America and she's only 54.

Mrs. Noel is the second in the circle of five generations, headed by her mother, Mrs. Julia Rand, aged 82, the latter being nearly 30 years older than the youngest member of the interesting family, Master Preston Stevens.

"Grandma" Rand and her progeny are advocates of the "marry early in life" theory. The unusual little woman set the example by marrying herself a life partner when she had just passed her 14th birthday. Mrs. Noel, too, was married when she had hardly attained her 15th birthday.

Mrs. Noel is a wonderful example of the well preserved type of American motherhood. Sporting a net "bob," not for style particularly but because she believes it is becoming and fitting to the well groomed woman, the traces of silver are hardly discernible. She would easily pass for a woman of thirty. In fact, it is hard to reconcile the fact that her grand-daughter, Mrs. Helen Stevens, is not a younger sister, or that Mrs. Rand is not her grandmother. Again, Mrs. Noel's sturdy son, Edward, father of Mrs. Stevens, would easily pass for a man in his early twenties.

Clean living, freedom from worry and close observance of the family rules are their recipes for physical preservation. Mrs. Rand, in possession of her every faculty, refuses to relinquish her household duties and performs the lion's share of the routine family work each day, claiming it is a pleasure.

Keen and witty, she is well versed in local as well as national affairs and can discuss big problems with as much ease as point out A B and C to her roguish great-great grandson. She does the mending and much of the sewing for a family of four.

If one cares for a "tilt" over the bobbed-hair issue Mrs. Rand is ready and willing to take the affirmative side, and it's a safe bet that any judge would quickly award her the decision.

She has four children, eight grandchildren, five great grandchildren and two great-great-great grandchildren.

TRIAL OF MARCINO IS AGAIN POSTPONED

Worcester, May 20.—Further postponement of the trial of Joseph B. Marcino, Frank L. Taylor and Abraham Goldman on charges in connection with wrecking the First National Bank of Warren came today, when Judge Edward T. Broadhurst announced he wished further time to consider the pleas made Monday to prevent the trial of Marcino.

The announcement came as counsel for the defence and Assistant District Attorney Charles B. Rugg were ready to proceed.

The pleas were the second attempt to prevent Marcino's trial in a State court on charges for which he is serving sentence in the Federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Ga. Previously Judge McKeon of the United States District Court denied Marcino's petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

ASKS $5,000 TO PROBE PHONE INCREASE

Resistance to the attempt of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company to increase the telephone rates in the Boston zone is rapidly mounting.

While City Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan was preventing the lawyers of the telephone company from taking unfair advantage of the city's expert before the Department of Public Utilities, Mayor Curley was sounding a renewed cry to battle before the City Council.

The Mayor appeared before the Council seeking $5,000 to be expended by the city in fighting the telephone company's attempt to boost rates.

The Mayor praised the American for its work in fighting both the telephone company's proposed increase and the high rates of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company.

"I believe that $5,000 will be enough for the city to provide in this fight at the present time, for we are still counting on the American to stick with us in this fight," the Mayor declared in response to a query by Councilor William C. S. Healey of East Boston as to whether the amount asked was sufficient.

PRAISES AMERICAN.

"If we had a Public Service Commission that was serious and honest it wouldn't be necessary for the city of Boston and an outside agency to wage this fight," declared the Mayor.

"This latest attempt to boost the telephone rates is simply a method the company is taking to make the public pay the cost of the recent strike of operators.

"They tried to crush organized labor by refusing the girls an increase they were entitled to. Now they want the public to foot the bills."

COSTLY TO BOSTON.

The mayor declared that if the increased rates were permitted it would cost Boston $500,000 a year.

At the request of John A. Donoghue, president of the City Council, the Mayor's appeal for funds to carry on the fight was held over until next week.

While the Mayor was appealing for funds, attorneys for the telephone company were endeavoring to convince the Department of Public Utilities that the telephone company is carrying on a philanthropic duty in providing Boston business houses with private branch exchanges.

That testimony was introduced in an effort to prove that the company is entitled to higher rates for the private branch exchanges.

COMPANY'S CLAIMS.

The telephone company endeavored to prove that if it did not furnish private branch exchanges it would cost firm such as Jordan Marsh Company at least $144 a day for telephone service.

The efforts of the telephone company to make ammunition out of the testimony of Samuel H. Mildram, expert employed by the City of Boston in its fight against the higher telephone rates, was frustrated by E. Mark Sullivan.

Mr. Mildram recently completed a survey of the telephone situation in Nova Scotia. He made several decisive statements in testifying before the Public Utilities Commission, several days ago and Charles S. Pierce, attorney for the telephone company endeavored to grill him in cross-examination.

Mr. Sullivan objected to that procedure, declaring the telephone company could cross-examine the city expert at any length, at the proper time, but that the city did not propose to manufacture bullets for the telephone company to use.

Henry C. Atwill, chairman of the commission, upheld the contention of the city, announcing the commission could not compel the city expert to submit to cross-examination.

LINK PONZI IN CASE OF MITCHELL

Counsel Sullivan Says He Will Show Connection With Cosmopolitan Trust

The name of Charles Ponzi was linked with the closed Cosmopolitan Trust Co. today during the trial of Max Mitchell, former president of the bank, in Suffolk Superior Criminal Court.

Mitchell is on trial before Judge Sanderson and a jury on twenty-seven counts, charging larceny and fraudulent conveying and converting to his own use funds of the Cosmopolitan Trust Company. The charges involve $361,492.78.

Attorney Michael Sullivan of Salem, one of defense counsel, during the cross-examination of William T. Murphy, formerly of the West Lynn Trust Company, declared that he would show that Ponzi had something to do with the Cosmopolitan Trust.

HILL OBJECTS.

This was after Arthur D. Hill, special assistant district attorney and the prosecutor, had objected to a question referring to Ponzi, on the ground that Ponzi could not be linked up with the bank's affairs.

Murphy was testifying concerning certificates in connection with the reorganization of the Lynn bank. He stated that he considered the giving of the certificates, together with notes, to Mitchell, a personal transaction on the part of the latter.

"That was a time when money was sorely needed, wasn't it?" asked Attorney Sullivan. "The financial situation was rather strained."

Prosecutor Hill objected to the question and Atty. Sullivan put another.

PONZI PROMINENT.

"That was the time the name of Ponzi was rather prominent before the public?"

Again Hill objected, stating that Ponzi had nothing to do with the Cosmopolitan Trust Co.

"I think you must have forgotten," retorted Sullivan. "We will show that he did."

The attorney then asked Murphy if payment of $47,000 was made to Mitchell by the West Lynn Trust Co. in August, 1920, in small bills of one and two-dollar denomination. Without replies in the affirmative.

"The sum of $23,500 in bills of small denomination would make quite a bundle, wouldn't it?" "Yes—but that long." The witness indicated with his hands a three-foot width.

"A bundle like that would make quite an imposing array of greenbacks inside a cage, wouldn't it?" "Yes."

CONFERRED WITH MITCHELL.

Murphy testified that following the payment he conferred with Mitchell with regard to crediting the bank with this payment on its notes. Mitchell, according to witness, said he was busy that morning, but for Murphy to go back to Lynn and not worry about it.

The bank had been closed at that time and the conference with Mitchell followed a few days later. Murphy and Liquidator Cushman.

John M. Nichols of Lynn, former president of the West Lynn Trust Company, testified that when his bank was reorganized it was capitalized at $100,000, with 2,000 shares. The capital was to be secured from the Cosmopolitan Trust Company, secured by 840 shares of the Lynn bank.

Later, Nichols testified, after the Cosmopolitan had closed, Mitchell asked him to sign a note for $145,000, but he refused.

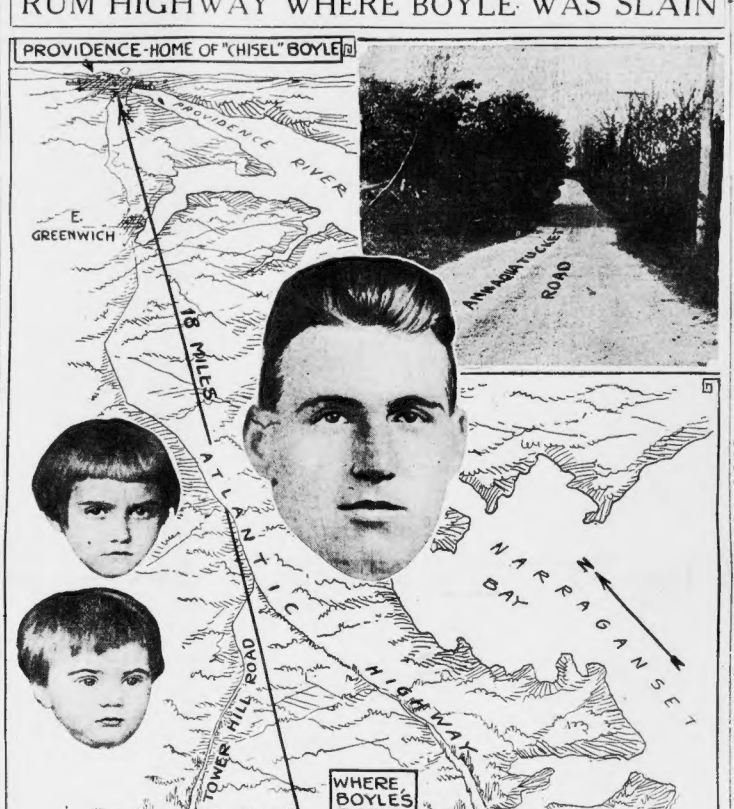
EXPRESS RATE CUT ON FRUIT AND PRODUCE

Washington, May 19.—The interstate commerce commission today ordered a ten per cent reduction in the express rates on fruit, berries, vegetables, butter and eggs, when shipped in carloads. The order was an amendment to an order on November 1, 1922, which reduced rates on food articles ten per cent.

BOSTON TRAIN KILLS TWO AT BETHEL, VT.

Bethel, Vt., May 20. (I.N.S.)—Edson Robinson, 63, was killed, and S. B. Pike, 68, seriously injured today when struck by a Boston Mail train at the Church street crossing. An automobile in which they were riding was demolished.

RUM HIGHWAY WHERE BOYLE WAS SLAIN



MAP SHOWS BOYLE'S PROBABLE MOVEMENTS WITH VICTIM AND TWO CHILDREN.

Boyle left a poolroom in Eddy street, Providence, at about 1:15 p. m. Saturday night. He was shot with his shot of a shotgun about 1:30 o'clock on the following morning, dying about ten minutes later, according to the medical examiner. Police have thus far been unable to find anyone who saw him during those times. The map shows the scene of his probable movements during that period. Cross in photo on top at right shows where his body was found on the Annaquatucket road, where by which the rum runners would passing through Wickford, by a passerby. At bottom of map is seen bridge crossing river to Hamilton where a resident heard shots in the distance. A truck, possibly loaded with rum, and an automobile with a provided armed guard for the truck then passed his house. A touring car followed slowly, possibly with Boyle's body. The detour leads to Tower Hill road on which the town of Belleville is located. Here an automobile was seen to stop and its occupants confer with three men. The auto then went back toward where the body was found. In insets, Charles E. Boyle, twenty-th ee, war veteran; two of his three children, Virginia, at top, and Rita, below.

R. I. TOWNS TO STOP HIGHWAY RUM FIGHTS

Providence, May 20.—Residents of the communities between this city and the Narragansett shore are on the point of forming vigilance committees to end the almost nightly battles between bootleggers and hijackers along the country roads and motor highways.

The slaying of Charles Boyle, a very known athlete of Providence, apparently, the police say, on the night of his initiation into rum-running or hijacking, has brought to light stories of several cases of shooting in which men connected with illicit liquor traffic were wounded.

Boyle, who left a wife and family of three little girls, is now believed to have been shot at a point near Hamilton, where residents today reported hearing shooting.

SHOTS HEARD.

A Hamilton man, according to police, heard distant firing and looking out of a window saw a truck go by, followed by a touring car which may have carried the armed guard conveying the liquor truck. Shortly afterward, another touring car crept quietly along.

When the last car stopped, three men came up to it, one of them limping noticeably. There was a conference and then the auto moved away.

Residents of Belleville reported hearing an automobile car speed past and return shortly afterward. It is believed that this was the car in which the dying man, Boyle, was carried, to be left at the roadside, on Annaquatucket road, when his friends found he was dead.

DIED IN 10 MINUTES.

The road where Boyle was left is a route known to be used by rum-runners to avoid going through the centre of the town of Wickford.

An autopsy performed by Medical Examiner P. J. Manning of Wickford and Dr. William C. McGill of Providence showed that six pieces of lead fired from a shotgun entered Boyle's body. He was facing the firing squarely when hit.

It is believed by police that another man or other men must have been hit also in the battle and a search is being made of hospitals in an effort to locate Boyle's companions.

Boyle, according to his friends, probably plunged into the liquor business while desperately in need of a few hundred dollars with which to finance his tree-surgery business for which he had enough orders to keep him busy nearly all Summer.

He left home Saturday night to borrow money.

Boyle, after spending the evening in visits to a pool room on Eddy street, in this city, went to a lunch room nearby and left there at 11:15. He had been seen with a stranger.

Wickford is twenty miles away. Boyle may have hired out to act as guard for a bootleggers' truck, but, according to the coroner, he was outside of the car, on his feet, when shot. Bootleggers' guards never leave their cars.

FRAMEUP SEEN.

"Boyle was a fellow who fought with his hands," his friends say. "He never would carry a gun. The cartridges in his pocket must have been a frameup to make it appear he had been in a duel."

In the Boyle home at No. 53 Congress avenue, the widow declared:

"Charlie would not shoot anyone. He joined the Signal Corps at the start of the war and was 14 months overseas, and came home safely. He expressed happiness because although in the thick of the war he did not have to kill anyone. He was not a bootlegger."

ATTEMPT TO REMOVE BISHOP

Move Defeated When Charges Are Made at M. E. Conference

Springfield, May 20.—A charge that "the Steel Trust" desired the removal of Bishop Francis J. McConnell from the Pittsburgh area was made by the Rev. William F. Conner of Pittsburgh in the course of the discussion, when the elimination of that area was proposed at the Methodist General Conference today.

Bishop McConnell was chairman of the committee that investigated the steel trust after its treatment of employes, said Dr. Conner (referring to the Interchurch World Movement's investigation of the steel industry about four years ago). "If we eliminate the Pittsburgh residence it would be said that the church has bowed to the capitalists and the power of the dollar—a charge that, but that would be the result."

TO ELECT 5 BISHOPS.

A chorus of "no's" greeted Dr. Conner's remarks and the Pittsburgh motion was later defeated, but the conference voted to keep intact the number of bishops, and to elect five to fill vacancies created by death and retirement.

A recommendation of the Episcopacy Committee that Paris and Helena, Mont., be eliminated as Episcopal areas was amended to restore those centres and was passed with only a few dissenting votes.

Debate on the Episcopacy Committee's report ran for over two hours and was badly tangled in the process of coming to a vote. Motions for the substitution in the elimination process of Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Manila and Indianapolis were made and seconded, but were finally tabled. The final result was regarded as a victory for Dr. David G. Downey of New York, chairman of the committee, who has contended throughout that the welfare of the church demanded a status quo in the number of bishops at the last quadrennial conference."

Resolutions favoring action by the church for extending the prohibition fight all over the world and for circulation propaganda to that end were recommended by the committee on temperance, prohibition and public morals. The committee says prohibition has been a success in this country.

Rev. George E. Heath of West Somerville has presented to the conference a memorial favoring a time limit on terms of office of the district superintendents.

The first ballot for new bishops was taken just before the noon recess, and the result will be announced at the opening of tomorrow's session. No nominations are made, and two-thirds of the total votes cast are necessary for election.

HUB MAN MAKES BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

Washington, May 20 (I.N.S.).—Another offer for Muscle Shoals was submitted today to the Senate Agricultural Committee.

James O'Brien of Boston, who was on the witness stand less than five minutes, proposed to use the energy at Muscle Shoals for flood control work on the Mississippi river.

Although supported with a mass of data and figures, O'Brien was replied by Senator Norris of Nebraska, chairman, to submit his proposal privately to Senator Ransdell of Louisiana, a member of the committee.

COOLIDGE ACCEPTS WOODS' RESIGNATION

Washington, May 20.—The resignation of Cyrus E. Woods, as ambassador to Japan, has been accepted by President Coolidge.

SPORTING AMERICAN

A Champion Willing to Fight
In these days of sidestepping champions, it is interesting to encounter a title holder like Abe Attell Goldstein who is willing to battle all comers in the bantam class.

Baseball Enthusiasm Is Growing
With the Red Sox and Braves playing bang-up baseball, interest in the national pastime is increasing in Boston. Boston is now very much on the baseball map.

FIRST PLACE WITHIN GRASP OF RED SOX; ONE GAME BEHIND

PENNANT BEE NOW BUZZING

against the Georgia Peach. Nearly half a season passed before Cobb would recognize Manager Fohl as leader of a ball club. That was back in the days when the Columbus edition was leading the St. Louis Browns.

EX-TIGERS DELIGHT IN LICKING COBB.

Flagstead, always anxious to play ball, was tossed about by the Peerless leader, as he is sometimes called by the Detroit press. Veach sat on the bench all through last season's campaign, with nary a chance to get in the fray. In his position were Manush and Fothingill, two mediocre outfielders compared with the reliable Veach.

Howard Ehmke was sent to Boston "because he laid down on Cobb," so the leader of the Tigers thought. Today he is the biggest thorn in the side of his former boss. As Howard said, in commenting on the deal that sent him to Boston.

"It was the best break I got as a major league pitcher. I have no ill feeling toward Cobb. I wish him all the success in the world. But when he sent me to a tailend club thinking he was vanquishing me forever and breaking my spirit, he made the biggest mistake of his life.

"My two brothers graduated from Brown University and knew the situation in the East. They told me that Boston was the best baseball town in the world and one city where the work of any player would be appreciated.

"I was only in this city a few days when I realized that they knew what they were talking about. Although a few of the experts figured on us finishing in last place, I wonder would it surprise them were we to duplicate the same feat that the Boston Braves pulled off in 1914.

SOX PLAYERS TALKING PENNANT CHANCES.

"The pennant bee is buzzing about our camp, and don't think it isn't. When we see teams picked and computed to be potential pennant winners, why our chances of grabbing that flag for Bob Quinn and Lee Fohl seem bright indeed. I'm telling you we are the surprise of the American League. Every city we have visited has seen big crowd turn out to witness the games.

"The only answer I have for such enthusiasm is the fact that they want to get a look at the next champions of the American League."

Ehmke pitched against the Tigers today and sent them down to a 9 to 1 defeat. The young man who was penalized for "laying down" fired off his big gun that blasted the hopes of the Tigers to win the pennant this season.

In fact, Veach toppled over to make a shoe-string catch in the second inning of Rigney's drive. With any other team playing that rap would have been played a fo Rigney would have been credited with a base hit. But with Cobb's team in town, and that hostile feeling foremost in the mind of Veach, the former Tiger was willing to risk anything to get the ball.

Ike Boone

The same condition came up in the 8th inning, with Derrill Pratt at bat. The former keystone socker of Red Sox hit one on a line that, in ordinary case, would go for two bases. Flagstead, who has no love for his former club, raced at breakneck speed, taking an almighty chance with men on first and second and landed Pratt for a out. The blow would have scored a run and gone on a base knock.

Ehmke was never more effective any time in his career than in the seventh inning. Blue was given a case on balls. Bassler followed with a single to center field, forcing the lightened up, struck out Manush, who was sent in to bat for K. Jones, fanned Haney, who followed him and caused Ty Cobb to send an easy chance to Flagstead in centre field without the plate being crossed.

He was working his hardest to blank the Tigers and though he did not succeed, he pitched a brand of ball that would cause any manager to smile broadly.

Such was the condition of Lee Fohl's countenance after the game. He was loathe to commit himself on the possibilities of his club taking the next three games from the Tigers, but in his offhand way, said it wouldn't be impossible the way the club was playing ball at the present time.

There is no doubt reading the feeling that exists between the Tigers and the Red Sox.

Veach

Thirty-four thousand people jammed into Navin Field on Sunday, with the skies overhead threatening rain any minute, to see the contest.

Every time that any former wearer of the Detroit togs did any feat, even the ordinary kind, they were greeted with rousing applause.

The Tigers are bent on winning the pennant, so are the Yanks, the Browns and the Indians. So are the Red Sox. They have played all the clubs in the circuit with the exception of Cleveland, and have given a good account of themselves against them all. The Browns had little chance to test out the strength of our hitters, having layed off three days because of rain.

As Steve O'Neill, the most enthusiastic member of the club, once said: "If we ever get in to first place, just watch our feet. In a way I know the feelings of most of the players on this club and most have one or more grievance toward some one manager in this league.

"There is a spirit on the club that cannot be denied. We haven't any stars with their temperamental attributes, but just ordinary ball players that worship Manager Lee Fohl and, who are out to give him back the prestige denied him in St Louis.

"The old pep and spirit has been aroused in veterans like Harris Veach and myself. It takes more than kiddish notions to get fellows of our type started talking pennant and the like, but such is the case. We have been the trial horse for every team in the league with the exception of Cleveland, and you know what the results have been.

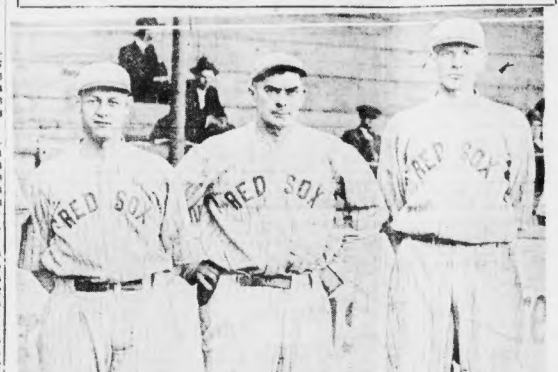
WHO'S SORRY NOW, TYRUS?



DANNY CLARK, BOB VEACH, HOWARD EHMKE

The pointless notes of a once popular song must haunt the Georgia Peach when he sees his ball club and his pennant hopes go to smash before the onslaught of these three Sox stars, once his own. Ty thought they were lemons. He wanted a peach crop. But it's hard to judge the fruit by the blossoms—and it seems as if Ty made at least three mistakes in trading the players who stand above.

GODIVIER WILL BE STAR AT REVERE

Jimmy Moran, grand old veteran of the bike racing game, is a great admirer of Marcel Godivier, the stocky French cyclist, who makes his American debut at the Revere cycle track Saturday night. Jimmy is now a farmer with a local residence in Lexington.

He found time to pay a visit to the beach oval yesterday to witness the paced riders in training. "Godivier is the nearest approach to the ideal cyclist since the days of Bobby Walthour, Harry Elkes and Hugh MacLean," said Jimmy. "Godivier can partake in any kind of racing and do it well. He is no specialist like the present day riders. He is a combination of speed, strength and staying qualities and is equally at home behind a motor, in a sprint or six-day contest."

ARLINGTON MEETS WINCHESTER TODAY

The Arlington High School track squad will stage another Mystic Valley League track meet this afternoon, taking on the Winchester High School track warriors, on the Spy Pond Athletic Field, in Arlington. Dr. William T. McCarthy, coach, will have charge of the meet. Arlington clashes in a dual meet with the Watertown High track team, at Arlington, Friday afternoon.

MOODY KNOCKS OUT BOGASH IN 11TH

Bridgeport, Conn., May 20.—Frank Moody, star British middleweight, scored a sensational victory over Louis Bogash, knocking out the local boy in the eleventh round. Moody boxed brilliantly all through, finally staggering the Bridgeport man with straight right, and then knocking him out with smashing showers of hooks.

READING LEADING IN MIDDLESEX LEAGUE

The Reading High School baseball team is leading the Middlesex Interscholastic Baseball League standing with two victories. The Belmont High School nine, which a week previous was in the last place, is now in the second berth.

Only one league game is booked for this week. It comes tomorrow afternoon, when the Reading High nine will attempt to make its first place hold more secure at the expense of its rival, the Stoneham High team, on the Reading diamond.

Arizona to Play Tigers

New York, May 20.—The University of Arizona polo team, Western college champion, is in town for the purpose of meeting Princeton University for the national title. The championship will be decided in a series of matches next week.

BARNES HURLS FOR TRIBE TODAY

St. Louis, Mo., May 20.—With Jess Barnes scheduled to occupy the firing line against the Cardinals today, Manager Dave Bancroft expects to start another winning streak for his Braves. So far, Dave is perfectly satisfied with himself, having taken six out of eight from the West and with a little luck in his hip pocket Dave would have had seven out of eight.

Jess Barnes

Barnes may have been regarded as a counterfeit by John J. McGraw, but he has pitched 13 successive ciphers for the Braves in the West, blanking the Pirates and the Reds. Then in his last game in the East, he was taken by the Superbas, 3 to 0, with all runs coming in the eighth frame which makes 25 ciphers in 26 innings. Remarkable pitching indeed.

The absence of Ruben Marquard is going to jar the Braves' hill staff for a fortnight or so. However, his place will be filled by a youngster, With the Rube a semi-invalid, Yeargin and Strycker will occupy regular places on the staff with Genewich and Barnes.

With two more games here with the Cardinals and four with the Cubs in Chicago, the Braves will close their first invasion of the West and they will be back home May 27 to tackle the Phillies. The Cubs are less than a stone's throw away and the Braves promise to profit while the Reds and Giants are mixing it in Cincinnati the latter part of the week.

LAWN TENNIS MOGULS MEET IN CHICAGO

Chicago, May 20.—George W. Wightman, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, Holcombe Ward, chairman of the amateur rules committee of the association, and Paul Gibbons of Philadelphia, an executive committeeman, arrive here today in response to an invitation of J. C. Stewart, president of the Western Lawn Tennis Association.

William Tilden 2nd, national tennis titleholder, arrives tomorrow for a meeting with the officials tomorrow night, when both sides of the controversy over the player-writer rule of the National Association are expected to be aired.

MILLSTREAMS CLASH WITH GIANTS

Dorchester fans will have a chance to see two of the strongest teams in the State in action tonight. The Dorchester Millstreams will play the Cleveland Giants, a colored team, at the town field at 4:15.

Pat Concannon

This game should bring out every baseball fan in or around Dorchester, because it is the first time that the Cleveland's this town.

The Giants claim the colored championship of the East. They are now making a tour of New England, meeting the strongest teams from each section.

Manager Dave Russell of the Millstreams will put the same team on the field that recently defeated the Salem town team two weeks ago.

Ada Hart, formerly of the Cornets will swell for the Millstreams, and Crook, who was playing for the Dorchester club, will be on the receiving end. The infield will be well taken care of by Murray at first, Lindstrom at second, Bob Conley at short, Pat Concannon will cover third. Leo Hayes, Ray Paten and Porter will cover the outfield. The first two were formerly Dorchester B. B. C. players.

The Millstreams are out to win the New England championship in independent baseball. The fans are giving them their strongest support and are looking for a win tonight.

BLACK GOLD CAN'T RUN AT BELMONT

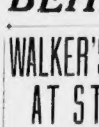
New York, May 20.—The proud Eastern race horses, so thoroughly humbled by the Westerners in last Saturday's Kentucky Derby, will race today in search of consolation championship in the famous Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park on June 7, when the three big Spring races for the three-year-old class.

Neither Nellie Morse, the filly that won the Preakness, nor Black Gold, winner of the Kentucky Derby, is eligible for the Belmont. St. James del Sarazen, which were rounded in two of the best three-year-olds until a little more than a week ago, also will be out because of the ailments which prevented them from challenging Black Gold in the Derby.

WALKER'S TITLE AT STAKE JUNE 2

Philadelphia, Pa., May 20.—For the first time since he won the world's welterweight championship from Jack Britton two years ago, Mickey Walker will defend his title in Philadelphia on the night of June 2.

When the boxing Nabob of Newark decided to step out in defence of his crown, he didn't seek any sinecure. Lew Tendler, the man he will meet, ranks among the most formidable fistmen in the country, a battler who has been up there among the topnotchers for several years.



Mickey Walker

For a year or more Lefty Lew has been trying to fight off increasing weight. The steady streak of reducing his poundage told on him until he wasn't capable of doing his best. Only recently Tendler decided to accept the inevitable and fight at a weight which would enable him to box with all his vigor and strength.

At the welterweight poundage Tendler has been going better than ever, even stronger than he travelled when he was the most dangerous contender who stalked the path of lightweight champion Benny Leonard.

"A Fighting Champion," Walker has been called and he has tried to live up to that reputation, although until Tendler announced he would go into the welterweight ranks there was no one around worthy to step out against Mickey.

Walker regards his tilt with Tendler as the most serious contest he has faced since obtaining the championship. He has gone into strict training in Saint Hilmit, N. J., and intends to be in the best shape of his career when he steps into the ring against Tendler.

Lew Tendler

The bout will be for the world's championship ever held in Pennsylvania, and backers of the contest are going for it to be ten rounds to a decision, with ten thousand dollars posted by each principal as forfeit money to make the welterweight limit.

INDIANS HAVE GREAT NINE WITH STARS OUT

New York, May 20.—"There is too much power in Cleveland team for the Indians to be trailing the American League race," Miller Huggins, manager of the champion Yankees, was quoted as saying today. "If they can play .300 baseball with Speaker, Stephenson and Lalde out of the game and Coveleskie not in his real form, they can be figured to come through when the hot weather begins."

CHICKIE

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

Chickie gave a little frantic cry

HE shrugged. A quizzical, uneven laugh. "Well look here, frail, it's a rather fetching proposition isn't it? Four or five brilliant people along all over the world . . . Listens sweet, doesn't it? And not such years ago, if my memory serves me right, you wanted to take a little yachting trip, didn't you?"

"Only for a week. This is to be months—maybe a year."

"But I m not going, am I?"

She said aghast "But you want to. Oh—brilliant people along. You're thinking of it. I can see. I'm not enough—not any more."

He seized her hands pressed them: "Chickie" For the love of heaven! Don't I'm not going I'm not thinking of it now. I'm you I'm not

"Oh, no." She gave a little frantic cry. "No! That's not quite—no no!" That's what set here sent off on a row with them. I've noticed that with them. You do

She gave a wild "I've seen Bart I know. You love Jo Above You're tired of me. You want to get away. I have no train

"Oh, Chickie stop—don't—don't degrade each other! Don't do that

She laughed hysterically. Lifting her lips "Degrade" Why we've done that already. And now you compare me to her. You shave books at me. All the time you're thinking of her wooing. I was brilliant. But I'm not. You can come You go. You won't those things up for me. You want

He shook her a little "Don't say that! Don't do that! I've never and for a moment. Oh Chickie" he stopped. He was sorry. Oh Lord

She put her hands over her face and began to cry

Chickie's home wedding indeed Charleston's society wedding of the season. He felt himself getting further and further away from her. Then he heard saying to himself "Oh Lord"

He saw her putting her hands pitifully over her face as if to keep it covered

In the flaming days to come he was aware of one desperate impossible desire escape. Get away from this hideous thing. He hurried

And the thing he had dreaded happened—flying at each other's throats. Couldn't go on now hopeless—utterly. One more affair another

He sat at his desk, pressing his fist against his mouth. He felt as if he were going to be sick. His head down. It was a deadly weight. He wanted to unfasten them. The pressure in his head the little pointed pain mentioned

And he was forced to open them. They didn't do his eyes any good. It was going to be a hideous day. Two days. Three days. Before all the world would be pointing their fingers

As he thought this, he thought of Chickie sitting her face, crying. It was such desperate misery. Not for her. You'll get over this, you'll be happy. Some stalwart fellow will come along and fall in love with her. She'll forget you. She'll be happy. She'll be happy. She'll be happy

Wall Street's Active Issues Make Good Recoveries After Sharp Break at Start of Trading

TELEPHONE IS OFF ON FRESH OFFERING

Wall Street's active stock immediately good recoveries, after a sharp break at the start, when bear professionals assailed the market on the strength of the Senate's passage of the bonus bill over President Coolidge's veto.

U. S. Steel was driven off almost 2, American Can over 3, Studebaker around a point to a new 1924 low and Baldwin over 3. Du Pont and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe were off and General Electric 3. Then came the rally.

PRICES SNAP BACK.

With the initial drop in prices exceeding expectations, short interests rushed to cover, coming into competition with others who had been awaiting a favorable opportunity to accumulate stock at lower levels. Prices snapped back vigorously, and about half the early loss was recovered on this movement.

Trading then quieted down, with speculators awaiting further developments before resuming active operations on either side.

Recoveries of 1 to 2 points were scattered among leading industrials.

Substantial advances took place in some of the less active issues, including Pullman, American Radiator, Brooklyn Edison and Packard preferred. Before noon, however, a renewal of selling pressure against Baldwin caused a fresh shading of prices. Call money opened at 3 per cent.

TELEPHONE AT LOW.

American Telephone was off over 2 when news came of the new financing, forecast early this year to Boston American readers, then rallied.

Directors of American Telephone decided to offer to stockholders of record June 10, 1924, for subscription par, $100, one share of additional stock for each five shares then held.

The amount will be approximately $150,000,000 offered to over 200,000 stockholders, making an average investment of about $200.

In trading on the Boston Stock Exchange, Telephone, at 123, sold at a new 1924 low. Massachusetts Gas preferred, Mohawk and Punta all yielded a point.

FINE BOOST FOR FRAMINGHAM IN ENGLAND

Proclaimed "Health Utopia" for Its Work in Overcoming Tuberculosis

The town of Framingham is to be internationally honored as the "Health Utopia" of the United States.

In cutting down the death rate from tuberculosis more than any other city or town in the country, Framingham will receive world-wide publicity at the great International Health Conference at Wembley, England, May 26-29.

Professor Hiolet applied the method in hospital work during the world war.

How public-spirited citizens of the Middlesex County community banded together in committee, in cooperation with noted American physicians, to the end that the ravages of disease might be greatly diminished will be told before the health congress by Dr. Hahn C. Marson of Portland, Oregon, one of the Framingham health control officers.

Professor Hiolet has long advocated a "caveman diet" as the only one according to the principles of physiology. His experiments with dogs have shown that these fed exclusively with raw meat developed only others fed cooked meat, decline and die within a relatively short time.

As it is impossible for tuberculosis to take raw meat in sufficient quantities to meet it combined with the juice, which he says possesses the same therapeutic qualities and can be taken in large doses without inconvenience.

He administers about 100 grams daily to a patient. The treatment, he claims, is easily applied for small children and in cases of convalescence.

There will be a Framingham health exhibit at the Wembly Exposition. People from all over the civilized world will see it.

CONTINENTAL STORES HOLD BIG OUTING

The outing season for 1924 was officially opened by the salesmen of the Boylston street and Franklin street Continental stores at Silver Lake over the week-end. Peter A. Donovan of Charlestown, was host at his Summer lodge, "Jack O'Lantern."

The feature of the sports was a baseball game between the two stores, which was won by the Boylston street, 5 to 1. This marks the fourth successive victory of the Boylston street store.

Washington, May 20—The tariff duty on barium dioxide was increased from four cents per pound to six cents in a proclamation issued by President Coolidge today under the flexible provisions of the Tariff Act.

Benevolent Society will be held this evening at Catholic Union Hall, Worcester square and Washington street, with Franklin street. Joyce is general reception committee to welcome the delegations from the various Joyce stores in Quincy, Malden, Lynn, Brockton, Manchester, N. H., Providence and Pawtucket, R. I. The guests of the evening will be the president of the company, John J. Joyce. Officers of the society are: Edna R. Doris, president; Anna Sullivan, vice-president; Katherine Buckley, secretary, and J. Edward Hood, treasurer. Committee, headed by Edward W. Joyce, assisted by May E. Wall, James Dunn, May Sullivan, John Cunard, Marion Murphy, William Jackman, Loretta McGinn, Michael Silk, Elizabeth McLellan, Mildred Magrade, employed as a bleaching agent and Joseph Kennedy, has charge of the arrangements.

'CAVEMAN' DIET AIDS FIGHT ON TUBERCULOSIS

French Professor Registers Good Results by Feeding Patients Raw Meat Juice

Paris, May 20—His new method of treating tuberculosis by feeding the patients pure dried juice from lean meat was described to the Academy of Sciences by Professor Charles Hiolet, famous physiologist and winner of the Nobel Prize for Medicine in 1913.

Professor Hiolet applied the method in hospital work during the world war.

His experiments with dogs have shown that these fed exclusively with raw meat developed only others fed cooked meat, declined and died within a relatively short time.

As it is impossible for tuberculosis to take raw meat in sufficient quantities to meet it combined with the juice, which he says possesses the same therapeutic qualities and can be taken in large doses without inconvenience.

He administers about 100 grams daily to a patient. The treatment, he claims, is easily applied for small children and in cases of convalescence.

There will be a Framingham health exhibit at the Wembly Exposition. People from all over the civilized world will see it.

Various Things

Brief, as Usual

One thing will please the very old among newspaper correspondents. It won't be necessary for them to go to Cleveland. All the Presidential primaries show that. The Republicans will meet, sing "The Star Spangled Banner," hear a few words from Chauncey Depew and Uncle Joe Cannon, nominate Mr. Coolidge on the first ballot and go home. They will nominate somebody for Vice-President also, but that won't be interesting. The race to which Mr. Coolidge belongs doesn't die in office. Anybody would insure him for two full terms—so far as his life is concerned.

Senator Shipstead of Minnesota, denouncing war with becoming earnestness, says it is "a source of security for the industrialist and hence supported by him."

That isn't the case today with any industrialist possessing half an ounce of brains. In the olden days there was profit in war. Then men conquered were killed. The women were stolen, property and territory was confiscated.

Now in modern war, whoever WINS also LOSES. The last thing that any industrialist wants now is war. It is too apt to drag in revolution behind it, to say nothing of new diseases and new troubles.

The little Kingdom of Rumania isn't worth as much real money as you could get for Boston Common if cut up into lots and sold at auction. Yet that little country is planning to provide, for its protection, fifteen hundred fighting flying machines with men to run them. That ought to interest this country, which will have to fight in the air sooner or later, and which could readily train and usefully employ thousands of fliers in the postoffice—taught to drop bombs instead of mail bags, if it should become necessary.

George Bernard Shaw declares that he is a Communist—he's a Socialist also—a combination. But he believes Communism should supply reasonable comfort. He, Shaw, wants "a nice little flat in the West End, a pleasant country house near London, a couple of good automobiles and ten or fifteen thousand dollars a year pocket money."

Shaw, in expressing his modest wants, was not as far from the average future possibilities as he seemed. A few years ago bicycles and then automobiles were denounced and their tires punctured because they were supposed to be plutocratic. Now many millions have them, and nobody scatters tacks on the road.

Everything people want they will have eventually. And discontent will bring it.

The Australians want European population of the right kind to build up their country, to give them strength against the menace of Asia, which frowns upon them, so nearby.

Western Australia takes groups of British immigrants of twenty families each and places them on country holdings. More than two thousand such families have been placed recently, and the process of bringing in the right kind of Europeans to build up the nation will continue. That ought to teach something to the United States, which sturdily shuts out the people that it needs for future protection, for immediate consumption of its surplus products, and for development of its unused lands.

Blessed Chlorine Gas

It May Mean an End of "Colds"

Science, at last, seems on the road to curing "colds," the name given to all sorts of troubles, including influenza, bronchitis, and diseases of horses and cattle. Chlorine gas has been tried on forty-one army horses and mules attacked by influenza. Breathing in the gas, much diluted, caused coughing and other unpleasantness. But it only lasted an hour. After the first treatment half the animals were cured.

At the end of four days only one animal remained uncured, and the fifth treatment cured that one.

The time is coming when every city, probably every big school and hotel, will have, as the Capitol at Washington now has, an apartment in which those afflicted with colds of any kind will sit, breathe in chlorine gas, and be cured. It is impossible to estimate the benefit of such a discovery.

Colds, leading to other diseases, are, next to plagues, now no longer feared, the greatest enemies of the human race.

Owners of cattle fearing the foot and mouth disease in the West might well consider the use of chlorine cure, applying it to their animals before the foot and mouth disease develops, and thus heading it off.

Under the law, as it stands now, all cattle infected must be killed without any attempt at cure. That might be modified in certain cases, in the interest of scientific experiment.

Man's Faithful Friend

He Bites Man, Occasionally

The faithful dog, "man's best friend," isn't quite fool proof.

A distinguished lawyer of Newark, who hadn't seen his younger brother for some time, walked into the latter's house, slapped the younger brother on the back.

The young brother's police dog leaped upon the shoulder of his master's brother, tore his cheek, neck and arms. If it had been a playful child instead of a full-grown man the child would have been killed.

So much for the police dog.

Murray Weinberg determined that his wife should have protection, his apartment having been robbed.

Somebody knocked on the door. Mrs. Weinberg started to answer. The dog sprang upon her, dragged her to the floor, biting her savagely. Probably it was a bull terrier, for bulldogs, with the best of intentions, being undershot, can't bite very well.

Dogs do warn you against thieves, and a burglar alarm might do the same. And burglar alarms don't bite.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS

By HELEN ROWLAND

HOW now, my daughter! Let not the women of Babylon arise and protest.

For the Stars have threatened us with Thought Transference, whereby the secrets of a woman's heart shall be laid bare to all men.

Verily, they are as babes that play with matches.

For lo, when all men shall read the thoughts of women, youths shall lose their vanity and bachelors their egotism and husbands their sublime complacency, and all men their beautiful illusions!

For when a damsel greeteth a man, saying, "SO charmed!" he shall see written upon her brow in letters of fire, "NOW, how shall I escape THIS bore?"

And when a damsel murmureth, "Alas, I am not a marrying girl!" he shall discern within her eyes the warning, "Yet, with the help of Heaven, shall I MARRY thee!" And he shall flee in terror.

Behold the Bachelor shall discover that the maiden who pursueth him regardeth him not as a "golden opportunity," but as a "last hope!" and that the matron who flattereth him regardeth him not as a Sheik, but as a "fill-in" at dinner parties.

And the Husband shall peradventure, be amazed to perceive that unto his wife he is NOT the Big Chief and the Infallible Oracle, but a wag-eyed babe that must be cajoled and jollied and subtly bullied.

And the Tired Business Man shall learn that unto his stenographer he is not a Glorious Being and a Shining Light of Wisdom, but only "a nice old simpleton."

And all the works and the labors of Woman shall be UNDONE and her power broken against her!

Yet, unto a WOMAN the New Magic of Mind Reading shall be as naught.

For in the reading of a man's thoughts a woman needeth no Thought Transference to guide her.

Lo, she knoweth that when he saieth, "I adore thee!" he meaneth "I love thee—a little!"

And when he voweth, "I shall love thee forever!" he meaneth "I shall love thee—until next week!"

And what shall Thought Transference profit her? For already it hath come to pass that all that remaineth to her of personal privacy are her tooth-brush and her THOUGHTS!

And shall she let men rob her of these?

SELAH!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

THESE are the builders of beauty, bent upon wonderful schemes, toiling with paint brush or chisel, shaping the world to their dreams. Never once weary of seeking after the goal that they set, no time for envy or hatred, no time for fear or regret. Vowed to an infinite labor, theirs but the tiniest part; setting the feet that come after on the long pathway of art. Time with its follies is fleet, time with its foibles is fleeting; youth like a day in the Spring filled with a rosy-hued vision, joys that the future must bring. Life that men cling to is slipping swift as the seasons that flee; beauty still lives on forever, kin to the sky and the sea. Beauty of palace and temple, ant-like, men toiled day by day that through the slow-rolling ages loveliness pass not away. Pyramids built in the desert, tombs for the pomp of old kings, these are the heritage left us, mute and yet eloquent things; Paintings defying the ages, vases too perfect to die, figures in partan marble, stirring the soul to a sigh. These came from builders of beauty, plying their bitter-sweet craft; while, free of vision's hard bondage, other men lived, loved and laughed! What of the wage that it brought them! Glory and grandeur for gains? Sometimes the smile of a monarch, sometimes a dungeon's grim chains! Yet, for all builders of beauty there were rewards beyond name; hid in the heart of each toiler, dearer than riches or fame. This is their work on the canvas, this is their touch from the loom; priceless the splendor they left us, beauty's unquenchable bloom!

Destitute of Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a young woman with two children, a little girl 21 months old, and a boy, six months old. My husband has had practically no work since last October and we are living with father and mother now. We manage to get enough to eat and milk for the baby, but we cannot get any clothes and we are nearly destitute. The little girl's shoes are kicked out at both toes and heels and she is nearly barefoot. Of course, I can make stockings over for her. She wears a 4 or 4½ shoe and 2-year size clothes. My husband wears 8½ or 9 shoe and size 40 in clothing and I wear 5½ or 6 shoe and 40 clothing. The baby is quite large for his age. Anything that could be made over would be acceptable, as I can sew.

MRS. T. E. P.

Clothes for Children

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please send me an address of a mother needing clothes for children one and two years old

MRS. J. H. JR.

Thank you. We have sent you the address of Mrs. M. B., who has two little "steps" those ages.

Student Wants Work

Editor Helping Hand:

My purpose in writing you today is to ascertain whether you can give me a helping hand. My intentions are to enter my pre-medical course here in Tufts, but shall have to work for my room and board. Is there any possibility for you to locate such work that I may earn my room and board and yet have time for my studies?

R. F. G.

For Two Little Girls

Editor Helping Hand:

I have some children's dresses for the ages of 4 to 8, which I would like to send to some needy children.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. D., who has two little girls the ages you mention.

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

From a Bluejacket

Editor American:

I have read with interest, an article in the Boston American, headed "Curfew Rings in Quincy, Due to Sailors."

The statements made are preposterous, inasmuch as very few blue jackets spend their shore leave in Quincy. They merely pass through Quincy, enroute from the yard of the Fore River Plant to the railroad station, where they embark for Boston and other points.

The statement of "Within a few hours the majority of her crew of 400 sailors were roaming the streets," is entirely wrong. The majority of 400 would be more than 200. Not more than one half the crew of a naval vessel is permitted on shore at one time; that does not mean that the half must go. I should say that not more than 150 men were ashore in Quincy at any one time.

These men do not roam from place to place without any aim—they do the contrary. Their aim is to get out of Quincy as soon as possible.

No man flirts with a woman unless he is given some sort of recognition by the woman. Quincy girls are no different from those in Boston or elsewhere—Boston isn't kicking.

We will grant that one or two men were disorderly; but is that any reason why their conduct should reflect upon the rest of the crew? Sailors are not the only ones who indulge the cells in the police stations, and they were not built to house men in uniform. I think if our Chief Goodhue, started cleaning up on the civilian populace in Quincy they would not need a curfew.

It appears as though Quincy wants to be heard from and the slur upon the sailorman is the only means she has to be otherwise known that she is on the map.

But why the ill feeling toward the blue jacket?

A BLUE JACKET.

THE LAW MAKER AND THE BUSINESS MAN

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE lawmaker ought to help the business man.

The nation is composed almost entirely of business men; that is, men who are working for profit and their dependents.

The more business we can do and the more we prosper at it the happier and stronger is the nation.

Yet all too many people are afflicted with the idea that business is something sordid and that a business man is purely selfish and can have no high motive and that the bigger the business is the crookeder it is.

Unfortunately our lawmakers are constantly furthering this evil and vicious gospel.

The Income Tax is an enormous governmental device for hindering and discouraging business.

For one law passed by our national legislature to encourage thrift and business adventure, there are ten laws passed discouraging these things.

Eldridge R. Johnson is the head of the Victor Talking Machine Company, one of the great business concerns of the country. In a telegram, which he sent some time ago to Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee, he reveals that taxes, of one kind and another, have been taking away from him more than his total income during the last six years.

His telegram, as quoted by B. C. Forbes, the financial writer, declares:

"I started the business that is now the Victor Talking Machine Company in 1894 on my own small capital. I have reinvested 56 per cent. of the earnings in expansion. I have distributed as much of the stock as is advisable; there are now five hundred stockholders and ten thousand employes, all receiving high wages and many receiving large salaries. My taxes, income tax and computed inheritance taxes, amount to 108 per cent. of my income since 1917, and, if the House bill becomes a law, these taxes will amount to 128 of my income since 1917. The Gift Tax, the Stock Dividend Tax and Inheritance Taxes are all capital taxes, in truth veiled confiscation. There can be no economy in low income taxes if capital taxes are to be raised. These taxes are not only cruel, but they are foolish; they will injure everyone eventually and I firmly believe slowly develop a serious national disaster."

The business man employs labor. He enables men to support their families. He is the backbone of the country.

Why cannot Congress and the Senate devote some of their energies toward helping him instead of hindering him?

Congress is obsessed with the vicious idea of equalizing incomes and, translated into plain common sense, that means penalizing the successful and the thrifty, taking money away from them by taxation, and giving it to the incompetent and the lazy.

Our legislators are entirely too much occupied in the Bolshevistic business of killing thrift and enterprise in order to get votes.

It would be a good thing if every man, upon being elected to the national legislature, should be required to pass a primary examination on the simple principles of political economy.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON TORNADO POWER

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

"TELL me something about tornadoes. How do they get their power?" asks a reader.

Heat furnished by the sun is the source of their power. Baby tornadoes are often seen on warm, quiet Summer days, even in city streets, where they whirl up the dust in dancing cornices. The explanation is that the still air close to the sun-baked surface of the ground becomes so much warmer, and consequently lighter, than the air above that it begins to make its way upward, like a rising balloon.

But instead of an entire flat layer of air, heated by contact with the ground, rising at once all over its whole width, the rising begins first either at some specially heated point, or where there happens to be a particular formation of the ground which favors an upward motion.

As soon as this start is made, the other air from all parts of the heated surface begins to glide toward the place where the upward movement has begun, and where that movement makes room for it. Thus a kind of a funnel is formed through which all the warm air below drains off upward, gaining velocity as it gains quantity, and spinning rapidly around a vertical axis. It spins because, coming in from all sides at once, there is sure to be a conflict of forces resulting in the establishment of a spinning motion in one direction or the other.

Ordinarily, if such an atmospheric whirl is large, and if no special circumstances interfere, the spin will be from right to left or against the hands of a watch, in our hemisphere, but the opposite way in the Southern hemisphere. This peculiarity arises from an effect of the earth's rotation on its axis.

A dust whirl not much bigger at the beginning than a puff of tobacco smoke, may develop into a miniature tornado. Benjamin Franklin once followed such a whirl of dust and leaves from a tiny beginning until it grew to a small whirlwind, that escaped his further pursuit by rushing with a savage roar into a forest. Franklin's level head quickly divined the general cause of this atmospheric curiosity, as it divined the cause of lightning. But real tornadoes were not known to Franklin. People began to hear of them and their monstrous power as the great West was settled.

A tornado, while resembling a dust whirl in its principle of mechanical action, is a vastly greater phenomenon, and other causes besides the mere heating by sunbeams of the air near the ground come into play in its formation. Atmospheric moisture, and perhaps electric action, not yet fully understood, are concerned in the genesis and development. But its awful trombe is a magnified counterpart of the twisting funnel of the dust whirl. Instead of leaves, it lifts and spreads out trees from their roots, their houses whirled from their foundations, together with men and animals rendered helpless in the face of such swift and furious forces.

Some of the performances of tornadoes appear entirely incredible, although the testimony for them seems unimpeachable. A correspondent writes me that he cannot believe that a tornado could drive a straw into a tree trunk or a fence board. But we must not forget that velocity is as important an weight in producing momentum, or force of impact. It has been calculated that aerial motions as swift as 120 miles an hour are concerned in a fierce tornado. That is over 175 feet per second, and a half-ounce straw driven at that speed would have a momentum of nearly five and a half pounds.

Tornadoes are the offspring of cyclonic storms, usually occurring in Spring and early Summer. Because the conditions of temperature and aerial circulation are there specially suited to their formation, they break out near the southern and southeastern edges of such storm areas. They are like the spiteful eddies that one may see spinning furiously at the side of a powerful river current and which sweep deep along an abrupt, rocky shore.

Once-Overs

BE COURTEOUS TO THE YOUNG MAN WHO CALLS ON YOUR DAUGHTER

Parents, when a young man calls on your daughter, do not make him uncomfortable by the way you set toward him.

He is doing nothing wrong coming to see your daughter; and, if he is the right sort of a young fellow and she enjoys his company, why should he not call?

He is entitled to courteous treatment from you so long as he proves he is worthy of it, and is it not a compliment to your daughter that he prefers her company to that of other girls?
